Entry requirements	Several pre-course readings for the B4 module in pdf or mp4 form will be provided at the beginning of the semester.
Learning outcomes and competences	After completing the module, students will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• examine critically the fundamental assumptions underlying the politics and culture of today's Western-style democracies, and, in particular,</li> <li>• explain how these assumptions affect <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- the actual practices of today's Western-style democracies and</li> <li>- the professional practices of life scientists,</li> </ul> </li> <li>• explain how global political issues affect the professional practices of life scientists,</li> <li>• respond in writing in a structured, critical, and ethical manner to the dilemmas and assumptions encountered in the study of local and global politics and culture and their effects on the professional practices of life scientists.</li> </ul>
Module contents	This module seeks to bring students to an understanding of the interconnected nature of professional practice as a life scientist, the local political system in which such practice functions, the global political system in which the local political system functions, and the ethical and philosophical commitments and assumptions which shape the practices of politics and business. In line with these objectives the module has four pillars: First "How Modern Western-Style Democracies Function". This section provides an introduction to the theory and practice of Democracy from its origins up to the 21st century. Second "How Modern Western-Style Democracies Think". The major issue discussed in this part of the course is the concept of Human Rights. Third "Globalised Political Issues". These issues include Migration and various forms of Globalisation. Fourth "How the Life Sciences are Affected" – an examination of the practical effects of the political context on the Life Sciences professions, in which various contemporary examples and cases will serve as material for discussion, exercises, and debates. Three or four cases/issues serve as the primary focus of the decentralised classes. Examples are the political response to the covid-19 crisis, the controversy regarding the misuse and
